Enhanced NHS111 service launches for Sussex

From 1 October the NHS 111 service in Sussex is being enhanced and it can now offer access to a wider range of health care professionals.

GPs, paramedics, nurses, mental health professionals, dental nurses and pharmacists are all part of the new NHS111 clinical assessment service.

People who call 111 – free from mobiles or land lines 24/7 - or access the service via www.111.nhs.uk will speak to call handlers and / or healthcare professionals who will be able to assess symptoms over the phone, issue prescriptions and directly book people into onward care appointments if they need one.

It is the start of a number of improvements to the NHS 111 service for people living in Sussex.

Over the coming months, NHS111 will integrate more closely with SECAmb's 999 service and existing out-of-hours care, which means that people who call or visit 111 online will be able to be access evening and weekend GP appointments, home visiting services, and appointments at minor injury units, urgent treatment centres and A&E departments. This is known as direct booking and NHS 111 First.

NHS111 Clinical Lead for Sussex, Dr Victoria Beattie said: "NHS111 will be pivotal in ensuring patients get access to the right care, at the right time and place for their symptoms. The new clinical assessment service will mean patients can talk to a doctor or healthcare professional sooner, giving patients real confidence in the care they will receive."
